

Celebrating 74 years: 1936 – 2010

PRESS RELEASE

What would be your choice for the top twenty gospel groups of all time? That was the question posed to listeners of SGM Radio recently when they conducted an email campaign to list those groups. They were all there...the Goodmans, the Speers, the Cathedrals, and all the greats of gospel music, but the number one gospel group of all time according to this poll is: The Chuck Wagon Gang.

The results listed the accomplishments of the Gang over the past 74 years such as being history's best record selling gospel quartet (over 39 million sold on Columbia Records alone) and the fact that the Chuck Wagon Gang's style has remained consistent through all those years. Dad Carter would have it no other way. "Sing the old songs and sing 'em the way I taught you," was his sage advice.

And the Gang has done just that. At any of their concerts, one will still hear "Echoes from the Burning Bush", "The Church In The Wildwood", "I'll Fly Away" and other familiar old songs that so identify gospel music's most recognizable style of music.

Today's group is Dave Emery, Shaye Smith, Stan Hill, Julie Hudson, and Joe Rotton. The quartet still maintains the clear, uncluttered sound of pure music that so established them in the early 1930's. Four voices and one guitar and an acoustic bass is all it takes for this evergreen foursome to transport the listener to another time and another place where life was a bit simpler and time seemed to move to a slower pace.
